Organize Boys For the Summer

Nicklaus and Duval to Give Time to Boys Play; First Meeting on Monday

On May 8 at 5 o'clock in the College Gym, W. W. Nicklaus and C. A. Duval will organize a spring and summer recreation program for boys and men. Everyone in the community will find a place in this program.

There will be four divisions of activity. Up to and including 11 year old boys will be organized into the intermediate division; 12 to 14 inclusive, into the junior; 15 to 18 inclusive, into the senior; above 18 will be the adult division, which will be open to Rotarians, Lions, Legionaires, Sunday School and Church organizations and to neighborhood teams.

The program will begin immediately with soft ball as the major activity. 12 boys or individuals will comprise a team. If a boy already has a team organized, he may represent this team at the meeting Monday afternoon, giving a roster of his team. Teams may enter as a team, as a club team or more than one team may enter from a club or grade at school. Each team will furnish their own gloves for soft ball. The committee will furnish balls, bats and catching equipment. Standings of teams of each division will be published each week.

As the weather permits swimming will be started with individual instruction being provided. A volley ball tournament and tennis will be sponsored. For the youth divisions other contests such as kite flying, airplane model exhibits will be developed. After a month or six weeks work out a little Olympic track meet will be held with contests for each division.

If a team from any community in the county wishes, it may enter for the entire program.

After the program has been going for some time, physical fitness clubs will be organized with standards set up to fit each division.

Everyone who is interested should be present or represented by a team captain at the meeting Monday night at the College gym at five o'clock.

Democrats Will Meet Saturday in Precinct Groups

Democrats of Randall county will meet Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the various voting places of the county.

Delegates will be elected from the various precincts who will come to the county convention to be held at the district court room next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. At that time delegates will be named to the State convention to be held in Austin. Randall county will have four votes in the State convention.

The convention for precinct No. 1 will be held in the district court room. All Democrats of the precinct are eligible to attend and to cast a vote for delegates. While little interest has been shown in politics this year, it is predicted that the attendance at the precinct convention Saturday in Canyon will be large in view of the importance of naming delegates who shall go to the State convention either instructed, or uninstructed.

Of the 1650 votes cast in the Democratic primary two years ago, 950 were cast in Canyon. The county convention will therefore be controlled by the delegation which is selected from precinct No. 1.

Highway Meeting At Big Spring For Towns on 87

Canyon has been asked to send a delegation to Big Spring on May 11 for a meeting of delegates on Highway 87.

The Alaska Pan-American route has not been officially adopted, and towns on 87 are working to secure the destination of this international highway. Towns on the highway will receive great benefits in years to come because of the heavy traffic that is expected after the war.

Every state through which this highway passes has elected officers to work for the designation of this route.

The last meeting of the group was held in Denver, but no delegation was sent from Canyon.

The first spring weather of the year came Sunday, with little wind and bright sunny weather. This fine weather continued until Tuesday afternoon when a high wind brought more dust and low temperature.

April was uniformly cold, with a considerable amount of wind thruout the month.

Wheat is looking fine, according to reports from the farmers. The cold spring and rains which have fallen at intervals have brought out the late wheat. The large acreage of barley is in splendid condition..

Bond Sales For April Fall Under the County Quota

Bond sales for April were under the quota.

In spite of increased bank deposits, and the general prosperity which exists in Randall county, sales of war bonds lagged and missed the goal by $7,582.50.

The total sales were $17,417.50 with a quota of $25,000.

The May quota is $25,000.

The 5th War Loan Drive will start next month. The quota for Randall county has not yet been received, but will probably be announced in a few days.

Roy N. Byrd, Jr. Receives Wings In Air Corps

LT ROY BYRD, JR.

Aviation Cadet Roy N. Byrd, Jr., of Canyon, and a recent graduate of the Army Air Forces bombardier school at Kirtland Field, Albuquerque, N. Mex., has been commissioned a second lieutenant and awarded the silver "wings" of the aerial bombardier, supplementing previously won aerial gunner's insignia.

He is a graduate of Canyon High School, where he was a member of the Honor Society and Press Club. Later he attended New Mexico Military Institute. His father served with the 111th Engineers in the first World War, holding the rank of corporal. The lieutenant was employed as a farmer-stockman before entering the military service.

Prior to his successful completion of 18 weeks of flight and combat training in high level precision bombing and navigation at Kirtland Field, Lieut. Byrd was stationed at Las Vegas, Nevada, where he graduated from the Army Air Forces flexible gunnery school as an aerial gunner.

Lieut. Byrd was awarded a sterling identification bracelet as the most outstanding soldier in Class 44-6. Now ready for active duty, his destination is not disclosed.

Cpl. Curtis W. Samples, Jr., has been promoted to the rank of Sergeant. He is a turret gunner in the Marine Air Corps somewhere in the South Pacific.

Lumber Is Vital to the War Effort; Citizens Asked to Do No Building

According to information issued by the Texas Lumbermen's Association, WPB has issued warning that there exists confusion as to the amount of money that may be spent for improvements or construction of buildings. Citizens generally are not familiar with the $200 provision that is allowed in such construction.

WPB warns dealers that the $200 limitation for such structures, except on a farm, must include all costs of construction, including lumber, nails, tin, plumbing, paid labor, foundation, and every item of expense going into the construction.

Lumber has become so critical that WPB ask that not a foot be used for any work today that can be put off for a few months. Let's give all this lumber to the war effort and get it over with, then we can build to our heart's content," advises the secretary of the Lumbermen's Association.

Thousands Went To Buffalo Lake Opening Sunday

Thousands of Panhandle people flocked to Buffalo Lake Sunday for the official opening of this great recreation center of the Panhandle.

The bombing exhibition of planes from the Pampa, Childress and Dalhart Army Air Fields was greatly enjoyed by the crowd. Bombs hit targets on the south side of the lake, from which area all cars were barred for the afternoon.

Every branch of the military service operating in this section was presented in the display which was put on during the day.

Miss Oma Robertson visited her parents in Wellington over the week end.

Prospects Good Summer Session

Reservations Are Being Made at Halls; Program of Interest for the Summer

Attendance prospects for the Summer Session at W. T. appear to be excellent. A check last week revealed that more rooms have been reserved at Cousins Hall than is usual at this season of the year. Cactus Lodge is full. Randall Hall has more reservations than at a comparable date last year and several popular privately operated places are full.

Besides good prospects so far as attendance is concerned, the summer school, which is divided into two terms of nine and six weeks length, has many attractive features.

Workshop in Child Development

Dr. D. B. Harmon, of the State Department of Health will conduct a Workshop in Child Development, which is expected to bring teachers and parents from many places. This is a three-semester hour course which runs from June 5 through June 24. People who do not want to take other work may enroll for it only.

Janitor's School

A feature which is entirely new to W. T. will be a Janitor's School which will be held from June 5 through June 10. This course is given in co-operation with Texas A. and M. College. It is strictly a working course in which janitors and custodians of school property learn to keep their plants clean, sanitary, in good repair, and generally shipshape. It is realized also that the janitor is frequently the first person who greets school visitors, so some lessons in courtesy will be included. One or more outings are being arranged for the janitors in connection with the course. Mr. Virgil Henson, the Business Manager of the College, is in charge of the plans for it.

Current Affairs

Dr. Hattie M. Anderson is outlining a series of discussions of current affairs in which both faculty members and students will take part. These will be scheduled at intervals throughout the summer, and will provide for acquisition of facts and airing of opinions on the topics of the summer days.

Museum

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum contains so much, that a casual visit to it is apt to leave the visitor with a confused impression, and very little definite feeling for the place, so a series of conducted tours of the museum will be given during the cool evenings of the summer, with Mr. Boone McClure in charge of the parties which will be limited to forty people.

Mr. McClure has arranged and re-arranged museum materials, partly to acquaint himself with them, and more to place them so that they can be seen to the best advantage and understood most perfectly. In this task, made difficult by lack of room, he has been very successful, and has acquired an immense amount of highly interesting anecdotes which will make the summer visits memorable.

Programs of Recordings

For several years exclusive and leading schools of the East have been having programs of recordings. The University of Chicago provides these each day; they are given in a small auditorium, where only a small audience can be accommodated. W. T. will follow a comparable plan for this summer, when a carefully arranged program, with illuminating introduction, will be given each week for those who wish to attend. The place will be the comfortable inner room of the Dean of Women, and Mrs. Geraldine Green will be responsible for the programs, which will include drama, poetry and music. After the first one, the make-up of the series will be determined by the wishes of those who attend. There is a large collection of high class recordings from which program material may be chosen.

Outdoor recreational affairs of equal interest and variety will be available, the plans for them having already been perfected.

As President J. A. Hill pointed out Canyon offers a perfect setting for a summer of successful study and pleasant associations. An airy library, well stocked with magazines and books, swimming pools, planned recreation, and comfortable climate are assets here which are invaluable.

The C. I. O. Menace

Those who have been alarmed at the infringements of unscrupulous labor leaders toward domination of this nation, as they did France before the war, have a real reason for distress in the Montgomery Ward case.

This is simply a case of the administration backing his henchmen, the War Labor Board, in an effort to cram down the throats of a non-war organization the demands of C. I. O. without so much as giving the employees an opportunity to decide whether or not they want C. I. O. to run the business. This is the only point in question—as to whether the employees want C. I. O., or prefer some other bargaining union. The company raised no objection to the union or the wage scale, but demanded that the employees have a chance to express their choice.

Every red blooded American citizen will rejoice in the spunk of Sewell Avery, the president of this firm, in demanding freedom of the employees. Avery was thrown out of the business by soldiers of the United States Army under the direction of the Attorney General. Just when has the judiciary stooped so low that it may command soldiers to do the things which it has not the power to do within its own rights?

Few people expect Mr. Avery to win his fight against the government. C. I. O. has the backing of the President. The War Labor Board is dominated by C. I. O. The courts of the land have been packed by ardent New Dealers during the past 11 years. The ordinary business man hasn't a chance against such odds.

Time was when the people looked upon Henry Ford as a staunch individualist who would fight for his rights. But C. I. O. took his organization over when the people were expecting Ford to put up a fight. However, this is a different case due to the fact that Ford produces war materials, while Ward produces no more war materials than any business house in Canyon.

This damnable case should be enough to defeat the New Deal, if the Republicans are sufficiently wise to bring out their strongest candidate.

Texas voters who believe in such treatment of business firms and are willing to bow to the arrogant demands of John L. Lewis and such labor racketeers will vote next Saturday to continue in office for another four years the daddy of this labor movement. The administration cannot sidestep its responsibility in this case.

We talked to a doctor the other day who deplored the amount of liquor which was used by men of his profession; a few days later a lawyer stated that those in his profession were using liquor to excess; a few newspaper men have long deplored the fact that this profession was noted for the number of men who used liquor to excess. It would seem from press dispatches that some folks in Washington were more concerned about the shortage of liquor than they were about winning the war. But when you see the amount of liquor being consumed you wonder at the apparent shortage.

Governor Coke Stevenson has made a few public speeches over the state, but no political talks. He is out to get the feeling of the voters. So far he has drawn two would-be opponentts. One promises $60 per month to every person when he becomes 65 years of age. This candidate has a fanciful method of collecting the money. At the same time that he is campaigning, he is selling stock in a newspaper.

Saturday promises to see the hottest political battle that the voters of Texas have staged in several years. Precinct conventions will be held, with the only question up for discussion whether or not the people want a 4th term for President Roosevelt. Those who want to see the New Deal continued will vote for an instructed delegation, who shall go down the line for a 4th term. If this group cannot get Roosevelt to run, then the next in line will be Vice President Wallace, who is carrying on the fight for the New Deal. Those who want to see what developments may take place in the war, and those opposed to the 4th term will vote for an uninstructed delegation. These delegates would be left free to vote for the best available candidate in July when the national convention is held. This man could be Roosevelt, if the Republicans make an unwise selection in June. The candidate selected might be some sound Democrat, if the war is going well and the President declines to run. At this time of the year it seems unwise to tie the hands of delegates who will not select party leaders until July, when so many things could happen.

The death of Secretary Frank Knox takes one of the aggressive cabinet officers who has been doing a good job. The navy has expanded to almost unbelievable strength under the guidance of Knox. Since Pearl Harbor the armed forces have received everything it desired from Congress, the administration and the people. Knox has seemingly carried out the will of the people in making this branch of the nation superior to that of any other nation.

It was announced a few days ago that Goebbels addressed thousands of Germans in one of the large down town theatres of Berlin. According to our propaganda machine all such buildings in Berlin were destroyed by constant air attacks. It looks like we have been fed too much propaganda and stuff of too optimistic a nature.

Homer Steen of the Floydada Hesperian made a confession to his readers. He plead guilty to the same brand of negligence of which we likewise have been guilty. We too have muffed one of the biggest local stories of the past year, knowing all the time that the the story was ready, but would require a lot of hard work to dig up. This story has to do with the large change of home and land ownership. As Homer confesses, we have been handicapped by lack of help and changing office force so as to be unable to keep up with these changes. As the Hesperian admits, we still hope to get around to this complete story during 1944.

Realistic Joe Stalin tells the world that the only way for the United Nations to win is by the destruction of Germany. Russia will start another drive when the United Nations open the Western front. It is hard to realize that Russia has already reconquered three-fourths of the territory which Hitler took from him. Russia has put up the most remarkable fight of the war. When the leaders sit down at the peace table Stalin will demand that his nation receive ample retribution for the damage that the Germans have done to his nation—and he will receive the major part of his claims.

We are just through dumping 500 sheets of OPA regulations regarding typewriters. So far as we know the only good these regulations did was to furnish clerks the job of writing and distributing these various regulations. Typewriter dealers were caused untold agony in filling out reports, which were probably never used. At a time when people needed rent machines the most, dealers could not rent the newer machines, as the government proposed to buy them. None were bought in this part of the nation.

Governor Dewey has made his first public statement regarding foreign policy. He leaves the isolationists rather suspended in mid-air by his declaration that the United States must co-operate with the United Nations after the war. Is this a last minute conversion talk, or did the Governor forget to say it upon former occasions. The future of America as a world power is too important to be so easily and quickly tossed aside with mere mention. We shall listen with interest to his future statements.

Lee Satterwhite of Austin is a candidate for Lieutenant Governor. He was State Representative from this district when he was elected Speaker of the House. He is the only man who has served in the House from three different districts. He made an unsuccessful race for Railroad Commissioner a few years ago. Age is his greatest handicap, but Lee would hardly admit that he is getting old.

To Our Friends and Customers

The Southwestern Public Service Company has been furnishing Canyon with electric and ice service since the fall of 1942, having acquired the electric and ice system at that time, and in order to better acquaint our friends and customers with the Company and its operating policies, we are instituting a series of statements to be published in the form of advertisements once each week for the next few weeks.

The Southwestern Public Service Company was organized in New Mexico in 1925 and, before acquiring the electric and ice facilities in Canyon, and in neighboring cities and towns, it served principally the Central Panhandle of Texas and the Pecos Valley area of New Mexico.

Soon after its organization, the Company established a general policy of operation which has been continued through the ensuing years.

This policy consists principally of the following:

(1) The best possible service to the public with friendly and courteous handling of our customers' dealings with us.

(2) The fair treatment of our employees, supplemented by a continuous program of training them in an eager willingness to serve the public and in good citizenship in their communities.

(3) A program of voluntary reduction in our rates to the public, made periodically as business conditions permit.

As a result of the repeated rate reductions made during the period of operations from 1925 until the outbreak of the war, the average rate per kilowatt hour for all lighting and power sold by the Company, in the original territory served, was reduced to less than one-third of what it was in the beginning. These reductions in rates were accompanied by large increases in electric plant and line investment, to provide adequate service at all times.

This is the program of service to the public which we bring to the people of Canyon. Although we are handicapped along with all others by war conditions, it is our purpose to put our operating policy in full effect in the years of peace ahead. These matters will be amplified in later statements, and additional information will be presented to you, in order that you might become better acquainted with the Company and the service which it renders.

REMINDERS

Meats, Fats: Red stamps A8 thru Q8, good indefinitely.

Processed foods: Blue stamps A8 thru Q8, good indefinitely.

Sugar: Sugar stamps 30 and 31, each good for five pounds indefinitely. Sugar stamp 40, good for five pounds of canning sugar thru February, next year.

Gasoline: A-11 coupon, good thru June 21.

Fuel Oil: Periods 4 and 5 coupons, good through August 31.

Shoes: Airplane stamps 1 and 2, good indefinitely.

SOME VEGETABLES NOW POINT FREE

Tomatoes, corn, asparagus, beets, leafy greens, spinach, blackeye peas, and garbanzo beans have been added to the point-free list of processed foods through June 30, the Office of Price Administration has announced. Points have been reduced on spaghetti sauce; soups, grape and tomato jams and preserves; apple, grape, mint and plum jellies; baker's jellies and fruit butters. Points have been increased on cranberries and cranberry sauce; tomato juice in large containers; canned or bottled dry varieties of beans (excluding soy, blackeye and garbanzos); tomato catsup and chili sauce; raspberry and strawberry jams and preserves. Reductions were made to move out last year's stocks before new supplies are available in great volume.

BUTTER POINT VALUE REDUCED

The ration point value of creamery butter has been reduced from 16 to 12 red points a pound, the OPA has announced. Margarine has been lowered from six to 2 points per pound. The new values are effective through June 3, 1944. This reduction was made possible by seasonally increased production.

LUMBER INDUSTRY NEEDS MEN

More than 60,000 men are needed for lumbering and pulpwood jobs before next fall if 1944 requirements are to be met, according to a statement from the War Manpower Commission. Efforts will be made to switch farm labor to the woods as the harvest season closes and to recruit other seasonal workers. Lumber stocks are at an all-time low and the estimated 1944 minimum requirements of 35,500,000,000 board feet must be met almost entirely from the 1944 output.

TO REDUCE HOG PRICES

Ceiling prices on hogs weighing more than 240 pounds live weight will be reduced 75 cents per hundredweight on and after May 15, 1944, the OPA said. The action is designed to discourage the use of corn and other essential grains in bringing hogs up to heavy, uneconomical weights.

SEASONAL INCREASES IN POULTRY PRICES

Consumers will pay an average of two-thirds of a cent more a pound for poultry over a period of one year under an OPA ruling providing for seasonal increases in prices of chickens and other fowl. The new prices will continue through June of this year, and from January through June of next year. From July through December of this year ceiling prices will revert to the unadjusted base prices as listed in Table A of the poultry regulation. Premiums to the producers, which will be passed on at all levels of distribution, range from a low of a half-cent a pound in January to a high of 2.2 cents a pound in May.

CHILD-CARE SERVICE AVAILABLE

The Office of War Information reports that approximately 20 million dollars for extensive child-care services will be available during the fiscal year 1945 to meet the needs of working women with children. The Federal Works Agency is now financing the following services in connection with nursery schools or child-care centers — information centers for parents, health care, a visiting teacher service to work closely with parents on needs of children enrolled at centers, and some transportation of children between their homes and the centers. Communities where women with children under two years are needed for war work now may apply to FWA for funds to establish group care for these children.

ROUND-UP

Civilians have been allocated 120,000,000 pounds of Cheddar cheese for the quarter ending in June, WFA says. . . . OPA announces that 10,000 new passenger automobiles and 12,000 new adults' bicycles will be available for eligible applicants in May. . . . More than 41,000 wives and infants were given medical and hospital care in March under the emergency maternity and infant-care program, according to the Department of Labor. . . . Dairy owners will find it easier to purchase water heaters as a result of a WPB action removing restrictions from sales of direct hand fired (solid fuel) hot water heaters of the following types — bucket-a-day stoves, domestic water heaters, and service water and tank heaters. . . . There was no net change in the average cost of living essentials between February 15 and March 15 because lower food prices balanced higher costs of spring clothing, household equipment, and services, the Labor Department reports. . . . Pot type oil burners may now be purchased by consumers without a preference rating, WPB says, but, in the case of new installations, authorization for delivery of fuel oil must be obtained from PAW before purchase can be made. . . . According to WFA, of an estimated 4,000,000 extra farm workers needed this year, it is expected that about 1,200,000 will be boys and girls under 18 years of age and about 800,000 will be women.

Duflot For An Instructed Delegation

To The News:

The Democrats of Randall County will hold a precinct convention Saturday, May 6th, at 2:30 p. m. at the Courthouse to select delegates to the county convention on May 9th at which time delegates are to be selected to the state convvention.

The question is, shall we send an instructed delegation to the state convention to support the renomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt, or shall we send an uninstructed delegation sponsored by anti-administrative forces who will attempt to swing the Texas delegation for some reactionary Democrat at the national convention?

The issue is clearly drawn. There is no middle-of-the-road to take in this convention. An "uninstructed" delegation is tantamount to a move to defeat in this county the re-nomination of the greatest president the American people have ever elected to the White House.

His management of the war economy has been so superbly done that even his most bitter critics grudgingly admit that within the short period of three years we have built up the greatest army and navy in the world and prevented a disastrous inflation on the home front. Roosevelt is not going to be attacked upon his management of the war and his foreign policy. The issue is going to revolve around his domestic policy.

The anti-New Dealers in both the Democratic and Republican parties are representing the Big Business of the country comprising about two percent of the population, while the Democrats and the most progressive Republicans are taking the side of the wage earners and little farmers of America who represent approximately 82 per cent of the voters. This is no time to let the tail wag the dog of of our national economy.

For the first time in the history of the United States the wage earners have achieved a place of respectibility in the nation's economic and social system. So long as the wage earner prospers, our national economy is secure. The other way round is not true economy. Business may prosper as it did in the 1920's when it had full control of the governmental machinery but in its short-sighted greed for profits it catapulted the nation into the greatest depression known in history. It skimmed off the purchasing power of the wage earners through exorbitant profits, high prices, and restricted production. When it had no more wages to take, this group of Big Business men kicked the wage earners into the street to starve. Four and a half million of these unemployed men became the wards of the government and the butt of WPA jokes of the same business men who deserted them in the crisis of their own creation. Business men know how to make profits for their own private organization but they have never yet demonstrated an intelligence about maintaining a balanced national economy. We don't want to see this group get into control of this government again.

Our national income was reduced from 69 billion dollars in 1930 under Hoover's administration to 40 billion dollars in 1933 when President Roosevelt took office. Twenty million men walked the streets unemployed. That was the way Big Business and their representatives in Congress managed the crisis.

What is the record of the Roosevelt administration as a business agency for recovery? A study of the period between March 1933 and December 1937, a period wholly unaffected by the war economy, reveals the indisputable fact that with a public relief expenditure of $5,761,865,000 the national income was raised from 40 to more than 71 billion dollars. Reduced to figures within the comprehension of the man in the street, we know that if a person can take $5.76 in deficit spending and make $31.00 within five years he is a good business man in anybody's business world. That is what Roosevelt did. Compare his business record with that of Hoover, the business man's ideal of a business executive.

If Big Business should get control of this government again, they will restore the economy of pre-New Deal days with its monopolies and international cartels only on a larger scale. They will interpret the mandate of the people as an endorsement of a policy of industrial expansion at the expense of the wage earners of America whom Eric Johnston, President of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, is predicting a dog-house habitation. They will be told to take what business has offered or else. Then will follow another depression which will make that of the 1930's look like a period of glorious prosperity.

An effort is being made throughout Texas to corral a small clique of anti-administration business men in each community who have been irritated by OPA regulations designed to protect the income of wage earners from exploitation to seize the precinct conventions and send an "uninstructed" delegation to the state convention. We do not want this to happen in Randall County. It will happen if the wage earners, little business men, and little farmers who have benefited from the economy of the present administration are not there in force to take care of their interest.

The load which our great president is carrying is heavy. We want to show him our appreciation of his super-human efforts and determined will to keep America American. And should he not accept the nomination, we want a delegation to support another man that will carry on the greatest humanitarian work known as New Dealism.

Old joke contest:

A heavy drinker in prohibition days was warned by a friend that, if he persisted in drinking bad booze he was liable to go blind, but he replied, "Oh, well, I've seen everything, anyhow."

There were various explanations as to why the creator of Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer adopted the pen name of Mark Twain but that was a familiar term in gauging the depth of a steamboat's course and the famous author was a Mississippi River pilot. His actual name, of course, was Samuel L. Clemens.

It is related that a book agent rang his door bell one day and said, "Mr. Clemens, I would like to sell you the complete works of Mark Twain."

Without a word, the author led the visitor into his library, pointed to the shelves containing all the editions of Twain's works, then opened the first volume of a set and pointed to a picture of himself and to the words under the picture —"Mark Twain (Samuel L. Clemens)."

History does not record what, if anything, the book agent said.

May 28 marks the 21st birthday of the Santa Rita well on the University of Texas lands. As a result of that well in the wilderness, the University has received $43,000,000 in oil revenue and the shacks have long since disappeared from the campus, replaced by the tower and other magnificent buildings, thus transforming that institution into the realization of the dream of the founders of Texas, "a university of the first class." Tens of thousands of students already have benefitted, as will countless others thru all succeeding generations.

West Texas was considered a "graveyard" for oil hopes. Then the Santa Rita well blew in, not only producing miraculous benefits for the University but saving a railroad, opening up a vast region to oil development, building thriving towns and paying millions of dollars in taxes.

This is one more of the vast contributions that the Texas oil industry, under a system of free enterprise, has made to the welfare of our State.

Request Rags

The WPB is conducting a national campaign for rags. Anything wearable will be used for local relief and old rags will be for industrial and military needs.

Outside of the call for old rags; the armed forces use 70% of the cotton produced in this country. It takes about 250 pounds a year for a soldier, whereas a civilian uses about twenty pounds.

Let's respond with CLEAN rags of all kinds.

An American was telling his friends about his trip to Mexico.

"And one day," he said, "I was in a restaurant in a small village, trying to order steak and mushrooms. I couldn't speak Spanish, the waiter couldn't speak English . . . so I took out a piece of paper and drew a picture of a cow, and over the picture, I sketched three big juicy mushrooms. The waiter said 'Si, senor!' and rushed to the kitchen. In a minute he was back, and what do you suppose he brought me? Three umbrellas and a ticket to the bullfight!"

"Do you know your wife is telling around that you can't keep her in clothes?"

"That's nothing. I bought her a home and I can't keep her in that either."

"Joe, you carry the baby and let me have the eggs. You might drop them."

THAT'S JUST WHAT WAR BONDS ARE FOR!

EVERYBODY'S PLANNING. Recent farm surveys show that a majority of the people who own their own farms are ready, the minute war ends, to build and repair barns and buildings and make many other improvements. Tenants, too, are on the lookout for farms of their own to build on in the post-war period. This is going to take many millions of dollars. Wise farmers have been saving the money for these purposes. Many of them have saved it in War Bonds—and many more are on their way.

HOW TO GET READY. You probably have many places on the farm to put money when materials and machinery and equipment are again available —if you have the money! So why not start right now? Step up your savings by buying War Bonds—the best and safest way to invest for future needs.

WHEN THE BOYS COME HOME. Your youngster in service is doing a man's job now—and he expects to do a man's job when he gets home again. But he won't be happy with run-down buildings and inefficient equipment. So that's another good reason for stepping up your purchase of War Bonds. You're backing him up in his fight to preserve our country, and at the same time preparing for the kind of home he wants to come back to.

YOU NEVER GET LESS THAN YOU LEND! And you can get ¼ more than you invest. When held 10 years, Series E War Bonds yield 2.9% interest compounded semi-annually. You get back $4 for every $3.

Of course, no one should cash a Bond unless he has to; but if an emergency comes along, Uncle Sam will redeem them in cash—at full purchase price—any time after you've held them 60 days. BUY WAR BONDS!

FACTS ABOUT WAR BONDS (Series E)

Boom for Farm In Peace Is Seen

Economists Say Demand for Foods Will Last Five Years After War.

WASHINGTON.—American farmers will have a market far greater than their ability to produce for at least five years after peace has been declared, according to government economists and farm officials.

The predictions of a big market in the years immediately following the war are based on the prospect that the United States will have to send abroad for relief and rehabilitation even more food than it is now sending for lend-lease and military purposes.

The experts' belief in the possibility of permanent agricultural prosperity is based on the facts that the world as a whole never has had enough to eat and that no country, including the United States, has ever supplied its own population with enough of the right kinds of food to sustain good health as a whole.

Take All Farmer Produces.

Agriculture department economists say that if, at the end of the war, American people are permitted to buy all the food they want at present prices and under conditions of a high level of employment, they will take all that farmers will be producing.

Nothing would be left, they add, for relief and rehabilitation needs of war-ravaged countries, or to meet the nutritional needs of low-income groups.

Farm officials, on the basis of hopes that industrial production will be maintained at high levels after the war, are planning to improve agricultural production and the economic and social conditions of farmers.

Keystone of those plans is a selective expansion of food production, especially of certain livestock products, fruits and vegetables. That expansion would be designed to assure adequate nutrition for all Americans.

Nutritionists estimate that such an expansion would require 40 per cent more dairy products, 80 per cent more truck crops, 20 per cent more eggs and 20 per cent more fruit than the quantities consumed in the 1935-39 period. At average crop yields, these and other needed increases would require about 40 million additional acres of crop land, or about one-eighth more than is now being used to produce food for the home market.

Need More Farms.

Officials estimate that at least 300,000 new farms would be needed to help supply such food requirements. In contrast to the situation following some of our earlier wars, at the end of the present conflict there will be no unoccupied good land in this country ready for cultivation.

To make additional land available for settlement would require irrigation, drainage and clearing. It is estimated that there are something like 30 million to 40 million acres of such land. Of this total 10 million to 20 million acres could be reclaimed in western states through irrigation, and another five million acres of fertile land in the Mississippi river delta through drainage. About 15 million acres requiring drainage and clearing are located at various points over the country.

In addition, officials estimate that part of the 20 million acres acquired by the army and navy for camps, proving grounds and other purposes could be returned to cultivation to provide farms for at least 25,000 families. It has been suggested that this land, as well as reclaimed land, be held for sale to ex-service men.

Besides helping to meet food needs and providing settlement opportunities for qualified ex-service men, a reclamation program would probably be an important part of any public works plan to provide employment during demobilization.

124 Billion Is War Bill Of U. S. for Three Years

WASHINGTON. — The United States has spent $124,000,000,000 for war purposes since the start of the defense program July 1, 1940, the War Production board reports. The total includes expenditures to September 1.

Expenditures in August were $7,529,000,000, a 12 per cent increase over July but 2 per cent under the outlay in the peak month of June.

WPB said the daily rate of expenditure for war purposes in August was $289,600,000, based on the 26 days in the month on which checks were cleared by the treasury. The figures cover checks cleared by the treasury and payable from war appropriations, plus net outlays of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and its subsidiaries.

Customers Shocked as Train Enters Tavern

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y.—Three customers were sitting in the Silver Dollar tavern early one morning, quietly sipping their drinks, when a train came in.

"It was quite a shock," one of them told police.

An engineer had misjudged the length of a string of cars he was backing into a barrier wall adjoining the tavern.

When two men always agree, one of them is unnecessary.

Automatic Pilot Improves Bombing

Ruin Created in Air Raids Credited to Device.

NEW YORK.—Details of "one of America's best kept military secrets"—the use of an electronically controlled automatic pilot—were disclosed with army approval.

The device, said by the army air force to have been "one of the factors responsible for the devastation" in raids over Europe and Asia, provides a stable platform for high altitude bombing "of vastly increased accuracy," and its use was said to be "equivalent to a material increase in the number of planes participating in an attack."

The improvement was described by the army air force and the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company at a luncheon here. The company co-operated with the army air force on its development after material command officials at Wright Field foresaw the need for a modified instrument capable of accurately controlling aircraft on high altitude precision bombing missions.

The disclosures were made in accordance with army policy of informing the public on major military developments when it is certain the enemy no longer is in the dark about them. Existence of the autopilot was unknown previously outside military services and the industrial organizations building and installing it. The improvement was accepted by the army air force in October, 1941, and for months was standard equipment on American heavy bombers and some types of bomber-trainer planes.

A spokesman said loss of some planes bearing the equipment made it reasonable to assume that the enemy knew essential facts about it.

Alfred M. Wilson, vice president in charge of the company's aeronautical division, described the autopilot as designed "to take over completely the duties of the pilot on bombing runs" and "to hold the plane on a designed course without wavering." He added that it was not designed to replace pilots, but to give them maximum protection.

Censor Gives a Dollar; Soldier's Wife Gets $700

SOUTH BEND, IND.—The censor who placed a dollar in a letter containing two others which a soldier had mailed his family had no idea it was the nucleus of a welcome bank account.

Private Edward N. Kleitz, serving overseas, sent $2 to a daughter in a children's home and asked her to pray for her mother, a patient in a tuberculosis hospital. The censor increased the amount to $3—and persons far and wide read about it.

Mrs. Kleitz reported that in the last few weeks they have sent her and her children $700.

Yankee Doughnut Stand Beats Army to Salamaua

WITH ALLIED TROOPS AT SALAMAUA, NEW GUINEA.—Soldiers call it "the Salamaua Salvation army," and it's been doing a roaring business. Somehow Red Cross workers John Taylor of Gramercy Park, N. Y., and Leo Schwartz of Washington, D. C., managed to get onto the Salamaua Isthmus ahead of the main body of American troops. They pitched their tent beside a huge shell crater on the beach and started hawking their coffee and doughnuts — as the amazed Americans piled off their landing boats.

Down Payment Cut for Home Buyers by OPA

WASHINGTON. — The Office of Price Administration lowered the down payment requirement for house purchases from the 33⅓ to 20 per cent.

Liberalization of the down payment is in line with settled OPA rent control policy to relax provisions of the rent regulation affecting sales where the situation permits. The action was taken in recognition of some abatement in the acute pressure for housing in centers of war production for the country as a whole.

Three Germans Executed For 'Defeatist Views'

NEW YORK.—The German news agency DNB said that three more Germans had been executed for "defeatism."

The broadcast, heard by U. S. government monitors, reported that one of those executed, a 45-year-old waiter, was accused of trying to "undermine the morale of the home front by making extraordinary disruptive statements in inns and expressing defeatist views to customers." The other two men were 60 years old.

Son of Guadalcanal Hero Commands Patrol Chaser

WASHINGTON.—Lieut. Daniel J. Callaghan Jr., son of Rear Adm. Daniel J. Callaghan, killed when a shell tore the bridge from the USS San Francisco in the Battle of Guadalcanal, has taken command of a patrol chaser, the navy has announced.

Callaghan was an end on the University of California Rose Bowl champions who defeated Alabama 18 to 0 in 1937.

French Guerillas Occupy Town

INSIDE FRANCE last year the Maquis—French patriots—celebrated Armistice Day by marching through Oyonnax, small town near the Swiss border, right under the nose of German authorities. This photo has just reached the U.S. from official British sources.

A preacher stopped at a fish market and said to the clerk: "Throw me a dozen of those best mackerel—one by one, high and fast."

"What on earth for?" asked the astonished clerk.

"I've got to say I caught them and I can't lie about it."

Help Keep Canyon Clean!

A lady, checking over her grocery bill, found this item: "One tom cat, 15 cents." Indignant, she called up her grocer and demanded to know what he meant by such a charge. "Oh, that's all right," Mrs. Blank," he replied. "That's just an abbreviation for tomato catsup."

The most serious mistake is the one from which you learn nothing.

"Why do you wish to have your name changed from Goldberg to Clancy," asked the Judge.

"For business reasons," answered Goldberg.

A week later Goldberg, now legally named Clancy, appeared in court again, requesting that his name be changed from Clancy to O'Leary.

"But you had your name changed once," said the Judge. "Why do you want to change it again?"

"Vell, it's dis way, your Honor. Ven I tell de people my name, dey look at me funny and ask: 'Vot vas it before it vas Clancy'?"

Paradox of the bowling alley, it seems, is that it is not so quiet because you can hear the pins drop.

As He Walks Through the Valley!

MUST be a strange world out there—where there are no thousands cheering . . . where radios aren't blaring . . . where there is neither race riot nor ruckus nor confusion of tongues. Out there where he walks the longest valley of its kind ever known to man, with our future in his gun. Or walks in the skies with our freedom in his eyes. We stay-at-homes can be with him in unity or leave him to his luck. But again in this Act II of a world tragedy which will not be finished without our wholesouled help, the American Soldier plays his part, every inch American, upon a deadly stage. He could not do otherwise, and belong to "we, the people." He would not do otherwise to be anything else but a Yank.

His name is Smith, Kelly, Deleo, Warmuth, Polinski, Levin, Devereaux, Lamptroupoulos. He comes from Oakland, Peoria, New Orleans, Chicago, Kennebunkport and Walla Walla. He is bigger than anything that can happen to him. He is farmer, mechanic, lawyer, doctor, preacher, banker, miner, printer, woodsman and cop. He is body and soul, not an identification tag. He is the Known American Soldier—today. And let's all back him up—be with him—as such.

Vocational Service Talk Made Tuesday at Rotary Luncheon

Virgil Henson was in charge of the Rotary Club lunch Tuesday. He talked on Vocational Service of the Club.

Bob Kilgore sang a group of solos.

W. W. Nicklaus announced the recreation program which he and Chas. Duval will supervise this summer. He urged all boys, or captains of all boys' soft ball teams to meet at Burton Gym next Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Three groups of boys will be organized: up to 11 years; from 11 to 14; 15 to 17.

According to Mr. Henson, business gives an opportunity for service to the community. Too often service club members go back to their jobs and forget the opportunities which are theirs for the balance of the week. In times like these, business men often are so pressed with duties that they overlook the opportunity of rendering the kind of service they would under ordinary conditions.

The Code of Ethics of Rotary was highly praised as a guide for all citizens. If every member of the community would take this code as their guide, local problems would be easily solved. Youth delinquencies are largely due to the examples which are set by the elders of the community, who do not practice the teachings of this code.

Those to practice the "get and hold" policy live a poor life. The dominate purpose of life should be service for others. Having a good time depends upon the individual idea of a good time. "Pleasure is the by-product of good living—not of selfishness."

Every citizen needs the spirit of Christ, who gave himself in the service of others.

Visitors were: Pinky Vineyard, R. E. Wertz, I. H. Davies, Bob Darrough, C. M. McMurtry, all of Amarillo.

Lt. Holston Receives Award for Coaching

Lt. Jimmie Holston, ex-student from West Texas State College of class of 1936, was awarded a Certificate of Meritorious Achievement by Major General C. H. Gerhardt, commanding general of the 19th Infantry Division stationed somewhere in England.

The award reads: "For his splendid efforts as a coach of the "29th Division Blues" football squad during the period 21 January to 25 March 1944. By his loyalty and devotion to duty he has made a definite contribution to the success enjoyed by the team during the season in which it was undefeated and untied in five games and won the Championship of the European Theater of Operations. He has brought credit to himself and to the service, and is hereby commended for a job well done."

He was further commended by General Gerhardt who wrote: "You are commended for superior performance of duty as coach of the football team of the 29th Infantry Blues. By your professional skill, untiring efforts, and ability as a military leader, you have led this team through a most successful season, during which it has been unbeaten and has been acclaimed as the Champion of the European Theater of Operations. The personal satisfaction which you must feel as a result of the outstanding success of your team is shared by the undersigned and all members of this command. The service which you have rendered has been most gratifying, and has reflected great credit upon yourself and the 29th Infantry Division."

West Texas State was cited in several football stories in Stars and Stripes and Navy News as being the school where Lt. Holston received his athletic training.

Lt. Holston who is with the Field Artillery in England has been gone 8 months and has a 7 month old son, Jim.

Mrs. Holston (Robbie) and her son make their home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Foster.
